MULTI-SOURCE
FEEDBACK

Sample Report

Introduction

This report presents an analysis of the results obtained in Elevatus's 360 Feedback. This evaluation tool is designed to analyze the professional competencies of individuals, based on multi-source feedback.

Benefits of using a 360°Feeback

- To create awareness on how Nour Haddad's professional competencies are perceived by others.
- To provide information on Nour Haddad's strengths and how to build upon those.
- To find out about areas Nour Haddad may need to improve on in order to become more effective.
- To establish a personal development plan according to the needs identified.

How to use this 360 report

The 360 test report is a support for reflection and communication. It should be part of an active exchange with Nour Haddad.

Some precautions to be taken when reading this report:

- Remember, not all reviewers who have given their rating for this 360 feedback are trained for this type of exercise. Thus, it is advisable not to give too much importance to each score independently, but rather to study the consensus between reviewers.
- Use of this report requires a complete understanding of the objectives of the evaluation and of the precise meanings of the competencies measured, in order to interpret the results accurately.
- The results must be analyzed in accordance with the requirements of the job position and the working environment in which the person will evolve.
- It is advisable to complete this evaluation by using other tests as well (for example, a reasoning or personality questionnaire), in order to have an overall overview of the candidate's potentialities.
- This report is confidential and is intended for use by professionals who have sufficient knowledge of psychometric testing. The report should not be released to a third party without the explicit consent of the person being evaluated.

Analysis of General Performance

This section brings together all ratings, showing the average score on each of the competency groups, and their general performance rating. This can be used to identify which broad areas Nour Haddad excels in, and which areas may need further development. See the analysis by competency group section for more detailed results.

These ratings are on a scale of:

– = Not observed (reviewer hasn't observed them exhibit this behaviour)
1 = very unsatisfactory (the reviewer believes there needs to be significant improvement in this area)
2 = slightly unsatisfactory (the reviewer believes there needs to be some improvement in this area)
3 = average (the reviewer believes the performance is ok, but there could be improvement in this area)
4 = good (the reviewer believes that this is a strength)
5 = excellent (the reviewer believes that this is an outstanding strength)

For categories where there are multiple reviewer (such as co-workers or direct reports), the ratings are averaged across the group, and not observed scores are only shown if the entire group chooses not observed.)

Analysis by competency group

This section of the report gives a more in-depth analysis of each competency group, to enable a more comprehensive discussion of an individual's performance.

These ratings are on a scale of:

– = Not observed (reviewer hasn't observed them exhibit this behaviour)
1 = very unsatisfactory (the reviewer believes there needs to be significant improvement in this area)
2 = slightly unsatisfactory (the reviewer believes there needs to be some improvement in this area)
3 = average (the reviewer believes the performance is ok, but there could be improvement in this area)
4 = good (the reviewer believes that this is a strength)
5 = excellent (the reviewer believes that this is an outstanding strength)

For categories where there are multiple reviewers (such as co-workers or direct reports), the ratings are averaged across the group, and not observed scores are only shown if the entire group chooses not observed.

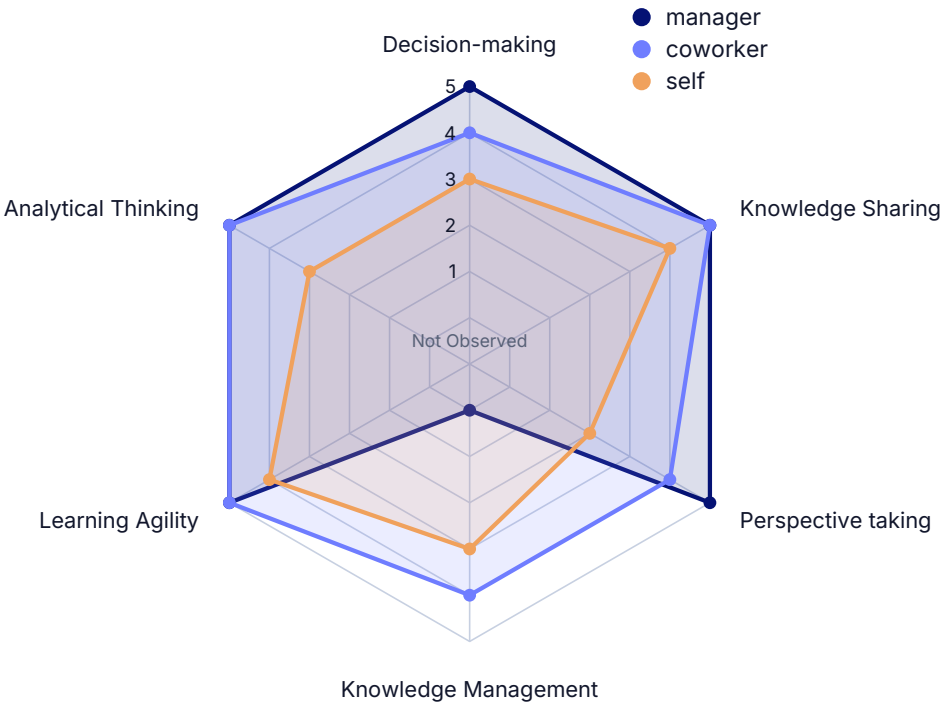

How to interpret this section / advice

- It is important to note that if a competency is rated as 'not observed,' it does not necessarily mean that Nour Haddad is lacking in this competency. It may mean that she did not have the opportunity to demonstrate her skill in this area.
- It is also important to highlight competencies where there are differences between the reviewers. For example, Nour Haddad may believe her presentation skills to be lacking, yet her colleagues may believe she has excellent presentation skills; it could be beneficial to discuss this.
- If Nour Haddad has been rated as low on a competency, it would be advisable to help her understand why she has been rated this way, and to develop a personal development plan with her on how to improve in this area.

Negative Open Text Feedback

This section provides a summary of the negative open text feedback that Nour Haddad's colleagues have provided.

manager:

- No Response given

coworker:

- n/a
- Difficult to think of anything. At a stretch (!!!) it could be remaining flexible to others' working styles and project manage some elements on a more macro level
- It is difficult to assess some competences due that we have always worked online, without the benefit of an in person relation (this is important as it might be the reason behind my comment here). In my opinion it might be a benefit for Nour to be aware about different styles and levels of maturity of the members of the team and organize the supervision and checks accordingly to promote the maximum level of autonomy for each team member.
- Nour might sometimes lack of self-affirmation

coworker:

- 3 competencies that Nour Haddad should work on: The options I have selected in this part is not valid as I didnt have any other option to select
- Wonderful to work with & the team would be lost without you self:

- No Response given
